INSURANCE RATES RAISED IN OGDEN

Immediate and Expensive Result of the Recent Big Fire.

GENERAL INCREASE OF THIRTY-FIVE PER CENT

Junction City to Pay Penalty of Disobedience to Municipal Law.

Special to The Tribune.
OGDEN, May 29.—One of the immediate and most expensive results of the disastrous fire in Ogden on last Tuesday morning, May 22, is the increasing of the insurance rates in Utah, excepting Salt Lake, and in Ogden in particular. On May 22, the board of fire underwriters of the Pacific promulgated an order annulling the 10 per cent discount on certain classes of insurance risks, and ordered that, except as hereinafter provided, the rates now applying within the jurisdiction of the board, whether published or tariff, are hereby increased 25 per cent. This applies to Ogden.

Reason for the Increase.
The circular goes on further to state that: "The rates so increased shall be maintained until after the application of a schedule based on percentages of insurance to value and increasing present charges for improper construction, unprotected openings, hazardous occupancies, exposures and configuration hazard." Buildings and their contents, used as dwellings, and other lines of risk are not included in the advanced premium rates, and churches, schools and city, county and other public buildings are excluded.

Necessity for Advance.
The necessity for this advance is urged by the adjusters, who are now on the ground adjusting the losses by the late fire. They contend that the average in the rear of the business districts are generally in an unsafe condition, that they are filled with inflammable stuff at the rear of substantial buildings, and that this condition in the late fire contributed to the conflagration, they cite that the Lowe building, which was burned because of corrugated iron and frame sheds and by the storage of wagons in the rear of the brick structure.

Ordinances Disregarded.
Their worst criticism, however, is the disregard for the city ordinances, which provides that no refuse and no frame sheds shall be permitted in the alleys. This ordinance is violated at all times in the main business blocks of the city, and the men doing business will now pay the penalty in increased insurance rates.

Prevention Against Fire.
The city is now suffering from the failure to enforce the most reasonable of all ordinances—the prevention against fire. The failure to conform to this brings the city face to face with when any immediate expense—that of an increased fire department of nearly double the present capacity. At the meeting of the Council Monday night Fire Chief Paine made application for four additional men at the central station and for four men at a new station to be established on the bench.

EXTENDED HONEYMOON.

Ogden Couple Will Marry Today and Leave for Europe.

Special to The Tribune.
OGDEN, May 29.—County Clerk David Mattson went to the Union depot tonight and there issued a marriage license to James L. Barker, aged 25, and Miss Kate O. Montgomery, aged 24, both of North Ogden. The young couple were leaving for the trip for Salt Lake and the marriage in the temple Thursday. On Friday morning they will leave for France, not only on a wedding trip, but for the purpose of the groom, of taking a post-graduate course and acquiring proficiency in the French language.

BOOSTING FOR TRAVELERS.

Committee Goes From Ogden to Logan to Work for Convention.

Special to The Tribune.
OGDEN, May 29.—Boosting for the grand convention and the other sports that are being arranged for the traveling men on June 7, 8 and 9 is in active progress. As the committee advance in the work they are enlarging it and the affair will be much bigger than anticipated.

Logan Will Assist.

For the last two years Logan has had the convention and enjoyed it, and the people there have given assurance that they will help to make it a bigger success in Ogden than it was in Logan, and that will be going some.

HEBER COUNTY RIVERS OVERFLOWING BANKS

Much Damage Already Done, and More Is Yet Feared.

Special to The Tribune.
OGDEN, May 29.—The recent rains over the entire country have had remarkable and almost unprecedented effect on the streams of Weber county, and especially on the Ogden river. Both the Ogden and Weber rivers are overflowing their banks in numbers of places in the valley, and word from Huntsville today says that the new bridge at the forks is in danger of being washed out. So great is the flow of water that traffic in this part of the canyon is dangerous. A band of sheep passing through this morning were unable to proceed owing to the overflow of the river onto the road.

Record-Breaking Storm.

All of Monday small rock and earth-slides on the canyon road were resulting from the storm, which is the heaviest this section has seen and the most continuous.

Weber Is Threatening.

There is also an unprecedented volume of water in the Weber. No damage has been reported, but the channel will and the force of the torrent is viewed with apprehension.

Much Land Inundated.

Information received from Huntsville late tonight conveys the intelligence that in places on the road about the forks of the canyon the meadows and farming ground in the same vicinity are inundated to a depth of four feet by the excessive rainfall. Ordinary rigs traveling up down the road are filled with water up to the box of the wagon or buggy. The storm has ceased in Ogden and in the canyon and Ogden valley, and the water is predicted for tomorrow and the usual rainfall is believed to have ended, or nearly so.

Too Much of Good Thing.

While the rainstorm has been a boon to the dry farmers, the growers think that it has been overdone. They claim that too much rainfall is detrimental to the growth and development of the beets and has the effect of corroding them, and they hope that the storm which would be usually beneficial has ended.

GREETING OLD FRIENDS.

Former Ogden Man Renewing Acquaintance in Junction City.

Special to The Tribune.
OGDEN, May 29.—Harry V. Bladel, some years ago chief dispatcher at Ogden for the Southern Pacific, but now ticket agent at Oakland for the Harriman lines, is in Ogden today and is greeting old friends. Mr. Bladel was one of the first to take the ruined section of San Francisco after the big fire, and in company with a friend went through the burned district in an auto.

Cannot Be Dejected.

Mr. Bladel states that even photographs do not depict the extent of the ruin and devastation that was wrought by the flames. He saw the Call building and the other buildings that were destroyed, and that the earthquake did as much damage as has been charged to it.

Going to Capital.

Mr. Bladel has been in Ogden for a month, visiting his sister, Mrs. John W. Barker, and the wife of his brother-in-law, on Wednesday for a visit to old friends, and will return later to Oakland.

OUT OF RESPECT FOR FARR.

District Court Adjourns Because of Young Attorney's Death.

Special to The Tribune.
OGDEN, May 29.—Judge Howell returned today from Farmington, where he has been holding court, and at 4 p. m. on the motion of Attorney J. N. Kimball, the oldest member of the Ogden Bar association, adjourned the court until Thursday, out of respect for the late Elijah Farr, who met such a tragic death Sunday afternoon.

Resolution by Bar.

It was further resolved that the Bar association meet in the courthouse at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday and that in a body the members will attend the last services over their deceased brother. Instructions to this effect were ordered by the court conveyed to every member of the bar who is in town.

Funeral Services.

The funeral services will be held in the Third ward funeral home at 2 p. m. The brethren of the legal fraternity will be the pallbearers, and the interment will be in the city cemetery.

CROSSING THE RANGE.

Utah Gather Their Stock and Bid Farewell to Uintah Reservation.

Many of the residents of Utah county may not be aware of the fact, but it is a gigantic enterprise is brewing, says the Vernal Express.

Reports have been persistently circulated that the Indians in small squads have been passing over the mountains north of Vernal almost daily. But the most sensational item of news relative to the movements of the Indians was positively confirmed yesterday by Forest Ranger Grant Carpenter. This is that a band of White River Indians, actual count known to number 33 camped at Dry Fork Wednesday night. They observed military order, marched with scouts ahead and when they entered the forest they carried a brave rode some distance ahead, another behind, each carrying a pole topped with a feather, and with white flags waving in the breeze, evidently a token to the white people en route that they were not on the warpath.

The Indians were all well armed and had ammunition in abundance; they also had 1000 head of horses and about fifty head of cattle. Their vehicles they disposed of wherever an opportunity to do so was offered. While at Dry Fork they had scouts out at the Silver Gate and all the way across the face of the American Creek ridge, upon a report reaching them that the troops were following them they arranged themselves among the rocks and the foothills and put out additional guards. They informed the settlers that they are going to one of the northern reservations where they are gathering of all the Indians in the West has been arranged for, to council over their supposed grievances. They express freely their determination to fight rather than return to the reservation.

The problem of forcing the Ashley river was a difficult one for them and upon the suggestion being made that they go by way of Vernal they said that they were afraid the soldiers would catch them in the Ashley valley and they did not care to fight among the settlers, whom they regard as their friends.

It is evident that they mean business, and Uncle Sam will have a good-sized army of his hands in returning the Indians to the reservation. The redskins now have a good start and are probably far across the range by this time.

PLAYS HAVOC WITH ROADS.

Recent Heavy Rains Cause Great Damage at American Fork.

Special to The Tribune.
AMERICAN FORK, May 29.—The recent heavy rains that have been falling over the country have played havoc with the roads, washing them out in many places in a manner that will take some time to get them back to the old state. The crews of the Wyoming mine had intended to commence the hauling of ore the first of the week, but owing to the rains they did not get started, and now that the roads have suffered it will be some time before they get started with the shipping of the ore.

Power Company Troubles.

The big volume of muddy water that has been coming down for the past two days succeeded in putting the local power company out of business for a time last evening and again today. The exceedingly large amount of rubbish that has been brought down by the high water broke through the screens at the mouth of the flume, and lodged in the pipe in such a manner that it will take some time to get it out.

Exciting Runaway.

A very exciting runaway occurred here today. During the afternoon a small boy apied a single rig tied to a hitching post on Main street, and, desiring a ride, he untied the horse, which was one of the old family style, and got started. With whip in hand, he urged the animal into a run down Main street, and despite the many efforts to stop the horse, it passed on and came to a stop, only after it had crashed into a telephone pole and thrown the little fellow out. The boy, who was about 10 years of age, was badly injured, which he doubt accounts for the fact that he was unhurt. The buggy was badly smashed up, but no other damage was done.

JUNE JURORS DRAWN.

List of Thirty to Be Summoned to Report at Coalville.

Special to The Tribune.
COALVILLE, May 29.—A list of thirty jurors has been drawn to serve at the trial of the District Court. It has been raining continuously here since last Friday night and the roads are filled with slush and mud. The Weber river and creek are higher than usual, and the farmers are saying "let it rain" as it is doing them more good than harm. This is the most general rain-storm that has visited this section for many years.
